Re: Archer Elementary School

Dear Mr. Yeh,

I write to convey my sincere appreciation for the outstanding effort made by International Public Works (IPW) to successfully complete renovations to the Archer School Building on schedule for student occupancy in the 2006-2007 school year. The Archer project was a very high profile public project, with the community intensely scrutinizing every phase of work. It was obvious from the start of the project that IPW understood the politics and were resolved to be successful, and in turn, ensure the Charleston County School District was successful in the eyes of our constituents.

Your project managers were outstanding. I specifically want to commend Matt Farmer and Tommy Anderson for a tremendous effort and for their tireless, selfless, unrelenting determination to make the Archer project a success! These men could not have been given a more difficult schedule than what was given to complete the renovation and kitchen project. But they rose to the challenge and gave 110%, seven days a week to make it happen ahead of schedule.

IPW is a proven, effective, and reliable business partner with our Operations and Maintenance programs. I have developed a great confidence in your capabilities and have learned that IPW can be counted on to do the work right the first time. With each project awarded, IPW continues to impress.

I look forward to working with you on future projects, and we thank you again for all your efforts.

Sincerely,
